

Involuntary Love Songs

Tenor and Piano (original key)

text by Alan Ashton music by Jocelyn Morlock

Commissioned by the Eckhardt-Gramatté National Music Competition with the generous assistance of the Canada Council for the Arts

Involuntary Love Songs

Program Note

These three new songs – each in a different way – speak to the connections, the disconnections and the spaces between internal and external worlds. There are moments when something wild and unexpressed struggles to break through into the world. There are secrets in plain view, glimpses of hidden spaces, and obscured erratic truths that undermine the tidy illusion of control. – Alan Ashton

During "Thaw" the protagonist is quite disconnected from his own feelings. There are occasional "thaws" in his demeanour, but much of the time he is an observer and seems to be feeling very little. Even when he says he misses the other person, he prefaces it with the distancing phrase "I was about to say something". When writing the music for "Thaw" I attempted to mirror the coolness and restraint of the protagonist, and also to point out the occasions of strong emotional attachment, without letting the music ever get too free.

"Matches" uses imagery of fire to portray a person who is in a wild and desperate state. The tighter and tighter circles that the protagonist is running in suggest a sort of imploding introversion, where incredible energy, fear and denial have nowhere to go. The music here is also very energetic – the vocal part is full of short, almost breathless phrases. The piano part is very dense with chords; indeed, the piano threatens to overwhelm the singer at times.

In "Script" the protagonist is more definite about what he is feeling - the connection between the body and writing is made in a more clear and visceral sense. The suddenness of the summer storm at the end of the poem suggests that the protagonist is caught off-guard by his own powerful feelings, and that there is an element of danger in it. When writing the music for "Script" I attempted to create more emotional, ecstatic music, almost a siren song in which the performers could freely admit to powerful feelings that were denied earlier. The vocalise at the end may evoke a sense of transcendence, perhaps a place beyond words. - Jocelyn Morlock

Performance Notes:

Accidentals last for the measure in which they are written unless cancelled later, and are only for the octave in which they are written. Cautionary accidentals have been added for ambiguous spots. Total duration of the three songs is approximately eleven minutes.

Tempo markings are approximate, and the performers should feel free to play and sing very expressively and with rubato in both Thaw and Script. Please avoid too much rubato in Matches. For Script, grace notes in particular are to be played with rhythmic freedom. The pianist should use more pedal than usual to produce a blurry, hazy sound. There are several ossias in the score of Script – at m. 17 and 18 the triplets may move up a tone rather than down (see small notes in brackets) and at m. 47 an ossia bar is added. P.S. Don't worry too much about making a real "oo" vowel on the melisma ("truth") in m. 46 – 47. The word truth has already been sung several times - feel free to use a more open vowel.

Involuntary Love Songs texts

Thaw

Where was I?

There was, I think, a graffiti cloud on a rusted gate.
A guide dog narrowed his eyes, plaintive, patient in the sun.
A young woman glowed like a bride, glowed like a peach.

Weathered knuckles wrapped around a handkerchief, slipped around a chrome bar.
Commuters danced a tarantella to the pitch and sway of traffic,
and steam curled skyward from the street.

Now, I read secret cursive scripts under my skin.
I was about to say something,
how I miss you from the inside out.

Now, where was I?

While you were away,
the thaw made dark rivulets under the ice and the fog retreated from the shore.

Alan Ashton
October 2004

Matches

Oh I remember I recall
I tell myself I keep telling me That I'm not I am not but I keep telling myself I'm not
And the more I do
The more I tell myself I'm not
The more that part of my self
The part that I deny I deny my self
The part that I tell myself that I am not
That part there
The more I deny the more that part runs free and wild like a spreading fire
the fire that I deny
For I am not no not on fire
And I run free and I'm trailing smoke And I run and run and I run trailing smoke and flame in the dark
In the darkest night I've never seen
In tighter circles sending signals to a sky
That I can not see
I deny the sky the fire with an eye to the part that I deny the inner part I circle a child cold and shy lighting matches
Oh I recall the inner dark that I deny the tighter circles cold and shy
I am not no I tell myself I'm not I tell myself
I deny
I'm trailing smoke
But I am not no not on fire

Alan Ashton
October 2007

Script

Hold out your palms
I will fill them with licks and nibbles and kisses.
I will spell out cryptic riddles with the tip of my tongue.

Let your skin be a canvas,
a journal to fill with schemes, with words that your ears are not ready to hear and my voice fails to form.
Shivers and tremors.
Soundless syllables.

With less than a whisper,
let me reveal that I have been cracked open by truth.
Truth strong like hunger.
Severe as a sudden summer storm,
ferocious and sweet.

Alan Ashton
September 2007

Alan Ashton

Jocelyn Morlock

Otherworldly, mysterious, birdlike

♩ = 100

(con molto Pedale)

rit. Plaintive ♩ = 72

♩ = 100

Where was I? ____ There was, ____ 17

— I think, a graf - fi - ti cloud — on a rust - ed gate. —

25

mp

A guide dog — nar - rowed his eyes, — plain - tive,

33

mf

— pa - tient — in the sun. A young wo - man — glowed

mf

40 p

like a bride, glowed like a peach.

47 mf

51 mp

Weath - ered knuck - les wrapped a - round a

54 p

hand - ker - chief, slipped a - round a chrome bar.

p mf

57 mp

Com-mut-ers danced

mp

61 mf

a tar - an - tel - la _____ to the pitch and sway of traf - fic, poco rit. A tempo

 ♩ = 100

65 and steam curled sky- ward from the street.

mp

poco rit. A tempo
 ♩ = 100

69

Now, I read

mf

mf

keep Ped. down (without changing) to m. 77

poco rit. p

73 se - cret cur - sive scripts un - der my skin. I was a - bout to say some

p

A tempo

77

♩ = 100

thing, how I miss you_____ pp

p pp

82 from the in - side___ out._

mf

86 mp p

poco rit.

$\text{♩} = 56$

90

mp

Now, where was I? _____

94

p

While you were a - way, the thaw made dark l.v.

p

98

3 ri - vu - lets un - der the ice _____ and the 101

8 fog re - treat - ed from the poco rit. $\text{♩} = 100$

104 8 shore.

mp p 3 mf

107 molto rit.

8 p niente

14

I am not but I keep tell-ing my-self I'm not 18 and the more I do— The more I tell my-self 22

I'm not The more that part of my self The 27 p mp

part that I de - ny I de-ny my self the part that I tell my p sub. f p

32 f mf

self that I am not that part there The more I de-ny_

mf f mp

37 the more that part runs free and wild_ like a spread-ing fire

41 f ff

the fire that I de ny

46 f

For I am not no not on fire

51 mf mp p

and I run free and I'm trail-ing smoke And I run and run

55 f mf 3

_____ and I run _____ trail-ing smoke and flame in the dark

58 mp 3

_____ In _____ the dark-est night I've ne-ver seen _____

62 in tight-er cir-cles sen-ding sig-nals to a sky that I can not 66 mf ff (possible) ff

see _____ I de-ny _____ the sky _____ the fire

71 mf

with an eye to the part _____ that I de-ny

75 ff

the in-ner part I _____ cir-cle a child

79 p mp f

cold and shy light-ing match-es

83 ff

Oh I re call the in-ner

87 mf mp

dark that I de - ny the tight-er cir - cles cold and shy

91 mf mp

I am not__ no I tell my-self I'm not

94 poco a poco cresc. ff

I tell my-self I de-ny I'm trail-ing smoke But I am

98 subito ♩ = 176

not no__ not on fi-re f ffff

8^{vb}
(senza Ped.)

Script

Alan Ashton

Jocelyn Morlock

calm; ecstatic ♩ = 66

mp

sempre molto pedale piano part is very sustained, blurred, impressionistic throughout

5

8

f

L.H. (R.H.)

10 mp

Hold out your palms

14 p

I will fill them with licks and nib- bles and kiss

18

kiss - es I will spell out cryp- tic rid - dles

22 p

with the tip _____ of my _____ tongue. _____

mp

25 mp

Let your skin _____ be a can- vas _____ a jour- nal mf mp pp

28 mf

_____ to fill with schemes _____ words that your ears _____ are not _____ read - y to

mf

31 mp

hear and my__ voice fails to form._____

pp mf

mp 3

35 p

Shi-vers and tre - - mors. Sound - less syl-la - bles_____

p pp mp

3

38 p

With_____ less than a whis- per__

p

3

50

as hun - ger

mp p

9

52

mf

Se - vere as a sud - den sum - mer storm,

3

mf

3

55

sub. p

fer - o - cious and sweet.

sub. p

3

3

58

8

61 mf Vocalise (on any preferred vowel) to end of piece

8 ff mp

64 mp mf

8 pp fff mf tr trills sempre pppp

66

mp mf

pp p mp pp p

69 mp mp

pp

71 molto rit.

p ppp

tr pppp mp ppp

pp ppp